OCTOBER 29-30, 2016

31st Sunday in Ordinary Time (C)

FOLLOWING CHRIST ANYWAY

We all want to be better instruments of God's mercy, so that through us he can continue "to seek and save what was lost."

But we can only do so if we are willing to be like Christ no matter what other people think.

Following Christ in a fallen world inevitably leads us to situations where we have to risk being criticized, laughed at and gossiped about because of our beliefs.

Blessed Mother Teresa of Calcutta learned this lesson well. Towards the end of her life, she gave this advice:

- People are often unreasonable, illogical and self-centered. Forgive them anyway.
- If you are kind, people may accuse you of selfish, ulterior Motives. Be kind anyway.

- If you are successful, you will win some false friends and some true enemies. Succeed anyway.
- If you are honest and frank, people may cheat you. Be honest and frank anyway.
- What you spend years building, someone could destroy overnight. Build anyway.
- If you find serenity and happiness, they may be jealous. Be happy anyway.
- The good you do today, people will often forget tomorrow. Do good anyway.
- Give the world the best you have, and it may never be enough. Give the world the best you've got anyway.

Jesus knew that the crowd would grumble against him, but he reached out to Zacchaeus anyway.

Today, with the help of God's grace that will come in Holy Communion, let's promise the Lord that we will do the same.
